WANGANUI DESIGNER WINS IN 2015 WOW AWARDS

Please note: as designers are unaware their garment has been selected to receive an award, please do not contact them until after the winning garments have been announced at the Awards Ceremony and the show has closed at 11pm, Friday 25th September, 2015.

Daniella Sasvari from the Wanganui has been named the Winner of the Shell Sustainability Award in the 2015 World of WearableArt™ Awards in Wellington tonight.

Daniella is originally from Hungary where she studied fashion and style design in Budapest, her garment “Templa Mentis” is made entirely from donated silks and polyester silk scraps. Entered in the Creative Excellence: Architecture, the garment is, as the name suggests, inspired by temples, which as the designer explains “are spiritual places that have given home to art and humanity since the garden of Eden.”

This is the fifth time that Daniella has entered WOW since 2010 and the first time that she has won a prize, although her garment “Gesta Hungarorum” did receive an Honourable Mention in the 2014 Weta Workshop Costume and Film Section.

In response to all of tonight’s winners WOW Founder Dame Suzie Moncrieff said “the high standard of entries this year are a testament to the outstanding talent of our designers. The innovation and creativity in each garment, the wide range of materials used and the workmanship is truly inspirational “

Of the 107 entries to take the stage in tonight’s 27th WOW Awards Show, Daniella was the only Wanganui-based winner.
